

Statement of Faith

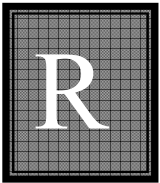

God: He is a spirit who has unoriginated, immutable, eternal, and self-sustained existence. There is one sovereign, omniscient, omnipotent, universal, just, and merciful God who created all things and who is actively concerned with the destiny of man.

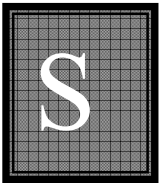

Jesus Christ: He is God incarnate. He is the Word. He is the promised Messiah of the Old Testament. He took the form of man and lived a life of perfection and died as a substitutionary sacrifice to satisfy justice and become an atonement and payment for Man's sins. He is raised from the dead and now sits on David's throne at the right hand of the Father. All authority has been given to Him until death is destroyed when He will return it to the Father. He is coming again to judge mankind.

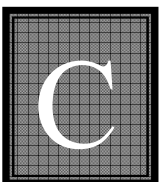

Holy Spirit: His is a distinct personality in the God Head. He was an active part of creation and was an active, divine influence in the birth, life, baptism, death, resurrection, and miracles of Jesus. He operates in the world, the church, and in the individual believer. He was instrumental in the inspiration of the scriptures. Jesus had The Spirit without measure and the apostles and those upon whom they laid their hands had a miraculous measure of the Holy Spirit, which established their credentials as spokesmen for God. Today we have the Holy Spirit inspired Scriptures for our guidance.

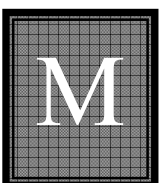

Redemption: Man needs to be redeemed (delivered) from the guilt and eternal consequences of his sins. This redemption is the forgiveness and justification that is brought about through the atonement by Jesus Christ in His death and resurrection. This free gift of God's grace is given to those who trust in Jesus Christ and manifest an obedient faith. Obedient believers are immersed into Jesus Christ. The redemptive process of salvation is called the New Birth.

Scriptures and Inspiration: All scriptures in the Old and New Testament canon were written by men as moved by the Holy Spirit. Therefore, the scriptures have divine authority for all things pertaining to our faith and godly living. Having divine authorship says that they are the living voice of God. They are infallibly and inerrantly accurate as written by the inspired men. By these scriptures all men will be judged for eternity.

Church: This is the company of believers called out of the world by Jesus into a body or family. The head of the church is Christ. Each church is governed locally and overseen by elders. It's the Kingdom of God on earth, promised to be built by Jesus. It's purpose is to teach, train, edify, exhort, convict, and admonish its members, and share the Gospel with the world. It's divine structural and operational instructions are given in the New Testament.

Man's Nature: Man is the highest of God's creation on earth. All men have sinned and stand in need of redemption. All men will die because of Adam's sin but remain eternally accountable for their sins alone. Forgiveness of those sins is available through Jesus' sacrifice. Man's fleshly nature can be radically improved by the influence of the Holy Spirit through the Scriptures and His personally indwelling the individual.
